

Home Retail Groups

Home Retail Group launched a Payroll Giving campaign last year to enable givers to increase their donations to reflect the rising cost of living. They introduced a scheme created by Charities Trust called “The Xtra Factor”. By ticking a box on Payroll Giving forms, donations would automatically increase by 3% per year to keep in line with inflation. This ensures the value of the donation does not decrease over time. The Payroll Giving scheme has been widely promoted across the company’s work sites. Home Retail Group employees are currently giving approximately £30,000 per month to hundreds of charities.
